A Preparatory School.

The school on a ship is called the Nautical Preparatory School and the scholars are enrolled as cadets. Lieut.-Commander C. H. Harlow, U. S. N., is president of the school, and the peadmaster is John Fuller Kent, a faous first baseman of the Harvard ball team. The faculty, which numtwenty-five professors, is composed of prominent instructors in all branches of science, classics and lan-

WILLIAM O'BRIEN, M. P., TO RE-ENTER POLITICS

In Letter to Lord Mayor of Cork He Hints at "Broader Movement" Which Is Believed to Foreshadow His Acceptance of Irish Reform Association Heart Disease Chairmanship.

> (Special Correspondence of The Evening World.) (From Our Regular Correspondent.)

DUBLIN, Ireland, Sept. 2 .- Mr. William O'Brien, M. P., has written to the Lord Mayor of Cork announcing his intention to re-enter the British Parliament as an unpledged and independent member. In his letter he sharply criticises the action of his former colleagues and hints at a spells, "broader movement." This is generally supposed to mean that Mr. Dr. Agnew's liver Fills are the best, 40 doses 10c. organ, County Dublin, formerly the resi- O'Brien intends to accept the chairmanship of the "Irish Reform Associadence of Judge Murphy. Mr. Andrew MacErlean, the best-known solicitor in the North of Ireland and one of the leading Nationalists of Ireland, died on Saturday last at the age of sixty-three, Mr. MacErlean distinguished himself in 1867 by his fearless advocacy of the cause of the men arrested in Belfast on the charge of Fenianism. As a conservence of his temerity he was himself arrested and kept in prison for some time. On his release the Incorporated Law Society—an institution which controls the solicitors' profession—sought to debar him, but he successfully overcame its opposition.

but he successfully overcame its opposition.

Mr. MacErlean rose to the highest point in his profession, but never ceased to take an active interest in national affairs. He was an intimate friend of issay Butts and of Charles Stewart Parnell, and latterly a strong supporter of the Irish regival mocement. In which one of his sons, a distinguished Irish scholar, Father MacErlean, S. J., is a well-known figure.

Another death this week has excited some attention in political circles. It is that of Mr. Bernard Goulding, the Dublin tailor, who made a suit of clothes for Mr. William O'Brien, M. P., and smuggled it into Tullomore Jail when that gentleman was incarcerated thore and refused to wear the prison garb. Mr. Goulding's "Tullomore tweed" suits became very popular for some time afterward, but latterly he fell upon evil days and died in rather poor circumstances.
